Description

This is our wine which has earned us our reputation, and continues to represent the image of the winery.

It is made entirely from our indigenous varietal, Turbiana.

Originally conceived to be consumed within a year, it expresses itself best after several years in bottle.

Consumed young it is fresh and straightforward, refined and elegant, with delicate notes of white powders and aromatic herbs, with a hint of apricot and almond.

It evolves through time, firmly expressing mineral notes. The wine acquires complexity, with a touch of iodine, spices and candied fruit.

On the palate it is concentrated, with a lively fresh finish. When consumed young, it should be served at about 10 °C.

The ideal accompaniment for delicate cold or warm starters, steamed or grilled fish.
